INTRODUCTION

“Public engagement in the arts appears to us to be a priority we need to reaffirm – a societal choice we need to reconfirm, a universal right we need to reassert. For citizens of all ages and from all walks of life, this engagement is a possibility and something of value, for it makes the world a more wondrous place, enriching individual and community life.”

Simon Brault, CEO of the National Theatre School of Canada

Dance Ontario Association’s long-term vision draws from Ontario’s diverse cultural assets to build creative communities, emphasizing the dance discipline’s power to entrance and inspire both participants and audiences.

In the last ten years, we have contributed towards this goal by creating opportunities that support education, fitness and youth as well as those that increase presentation and tourism across the province. By growing networks of regional presenters, both established and alternate, we bring performances to broad cross-sections of municipalities and involve people of all ages in classes and workshops taught by local and visiting artists.

Though not yet tenable, our goal of "One performing arts experience each year for every Ontario school child" would have a three-pronged effect – (i) rejuvenate attendance at regional venues, (ii) make touring viable for dance companies and (iii) build future audiences.

Dance Ontario has worked towards these ideals since 2002 through 3X3X3 Dance, Dance Animation Ontario, Dances For Youth Forums and Community Dance Partnerships, collaborating with and strengthening presenters and developing new ways to enhance projects undertaken by touring companies and municipalities.

With the initiation in 2012 of Ontario Outtakes and the Connecting the Dots Project funded by the Ontario Arts Council and Ontario Trillium Foundation respectively, we see the culmination of the Association’s five-year plan to draw together sub-sectors of our membership and encourage partnerships and collaborations that will see dance activities in regions across Ontario increase. Together, we are taking realistic steps towards building a healthy and sustainable dance milieu for the future.

RATIONALE

Given the diversity of Dance Ontario's membership and the ever-shifting funding climate and global economy, it was clear that strengthening dance across the sector through collaborations was likely to be the most effective means of producing the required results. Therefore, we planned to build on relationships already nurtured through the Dance For Youth Forums and Ontario Outtakes to bring together the various dance sub-sectors (companies and performers, venues, studios, school boards, teachers and regional arts councils) and provide incentives for each to work together to benefit dance in their communities. Significant cross-regional networking and the sharing of ideas and incentives between practitioners in different communities is an important aspect in the development and strengthening of the sector in general.

We aim to support initiatives that originate from within the communities, providing opportunities for projects at the grass-roots level that would draw support from local businesses and municipalities.

METHODOLOGY & DEVELOPMENT

We began by contacting community groups across Ontario along with professional organizations that provide resources and services such as: (DTRC) Dancer Transition Resource Centre, CODE (Council of Ontario Drama & Dance Educators), (RAD) Royal Academy of Dance and Cecchetti Society of Canada – Ontario Branch, and (AHA)

Arts & Heritage Alliance. All were brought together for the Year 1 Connecting the Dots Symposium in Toronto. They were encouraged to collaborate throughout Years 2 & 3 to broadcast, promote and develop community-specific projects. They were also encouraged to share the results of these initiatives with each other so they could be tailored to fit the particular needs of other towns across Ontario.

Content and Projects

Proposed gatherings in each of the three years will concentrate on:

- (i) Networking between participants from various areas of the sector (studios, schools, artists, community groups, etc). Identifying dance friendly regional school boards will also be useful at that time, as well as development of lists of possible municipal events where dance might enhance the proceedings.
- (ii) Sessions on innovative projects that have proven viable in smaller communities
- (iii) Information sessions provided by the various service organizations and our collaborators
- (iv) Initial development of possible partnership opportunities.

Outcomes

The development through partnerships of models, formats and bridging strategies that can build successful, financially viable dance-related activities in Ontario's diverse regions.

YEAR ONE – CONNECTING THE DOTS SYMPOSIUM

Dance Ontario successfully hosted the Connecting the Dots Symposium from June 26-28, 2012 at the Young Centre for the Performing Arts in Toronto. The symposium brought together a broad range of dance community members from across Ontario. They included:

- Professional Dance artists
- Youth dancers
- Presenters/Venue Operators
- Public school teachers
- Post-secondary educators
- School principals
- Studio owners
- Studio teachers
- Service organizations representatives
- Arts administrators
- Animators

Over three days, delegates shared success stories, concerns and ideas, through information sessions, presentations, breakout sessions, networking and performances by youth groups and professional artists. The gathering generated excitement and buzz from participants enthusiastic to learn what each was doing in their respective communities and sectors, and curious regarding how others were using creative means to face challenges. All were eager to find meaningful partnerships and collaborations.

Keynote Speaker, Dee Adrian, from the Capitol Centre, spoke to her experiences on building an audience for dance in North Bay through partnerships with dance companies and her own learning along the way. Throughout the gathering, presentations were made by a variety of speakers from different regions across the province working in different sub sectors. Many of these presentations shared new and creative ways of approaching dance education, advocacy, presentation and engagement. Service organizations were afforded the opportunity to inform delegates on the services they offer.

Performances were held at Dancemakers Studio in the Distillery's Cannery Building that showcased the diversity and breadth of dance in Ontario. Youth dance companies and dance teams ages 7 – 21 had the opportunity to perform in a professional venue and to see and support each other's work. The professional showcase offered a mix of dance styles including Belly dance, Flamenco, Contemporary, Indian classical and Urban dance.

Bringing people together to network and explore potential partnerships was a large part of the event. Delegates were offered networking time in the café/trade show room during the day as well during a cocktail reception and video screening in the evening.

Dance Ontario aimed to identify the realities, the needs and goals of each sub-sector and region, and to provide relevant data to the community post-gathering.

Through targeted break out sessions by sub-sector (Education, Artists/Venues, Studios) we asked the delegates to identify the top three priorities for dance in Ontario.

By amalgamating each sectors' priorities, the following emerged:

NINE TOP PRIORITIES FOR DANCE IN ONTARIO

- 1. *Engaging the Public
- 2. *Business of Touring and Presenting
- 3. *Balancing Administration and Art-making
- 4. *Competitions
- 5. *Student/Parent Education Regarding Transitions
- 6. *Business Management – Best Practices
- 7. *Principals' Awareness of dance
- 8. *Pre-Service Education
- 9. *Public Awareness of dance education

1. Engaging the Public

- There is a need for performance opportunities with large audiences such as street festivals, that are free or very low cost to allow artists to be seen by a large audience in a low stress/commitment environment
- There is a need to increase the value of dance to the general public so they can become paying audiences

2. Business of Touring and Presenting

- Presenters and artists have different concerns and need to communicate more to understand each other's needs
- Both artists and presenters would benefit from advice on how to initiate and implement collaborations and partnerships
- Community development in smaller communities is an avenue for touring opportunities where artists and presenters can work together

3. Balancing Administration and Art-making

- Administrative infrastructure is challenging, human resources often do not stay in the sector and this creates too much turnover
- There is a lack of resources for professional development and a lack of human resources in areas beyond the GTA
- There is a lack of resources to pay performing artists adequately, often Designers, Stage Managers, Administrators etc are paid more than creators and performers and this creates challenges for artists

- Artists have access to short-term administrative help through grants and internships but there is a concern that this type of support does not lead to long-term activity for the artists/organization

4. Competitions

- There is a need for a set of standards or codification of the ranking systems used by competitions
- With a focus on tricks and winning, sometimes young dancers can be exposed to bad training methods

5. Student/Parent Education Regarding Transitions

- There is a need for parent education so that informed decisions for their children can be made regarding dance training
- There is a need for student and parent education about the art of dance, how to achieve a well-balanced education, as well as how to transition the post-secondary level
- There is a lack of access to professional performances for students

6. Business Management – Best Practices

- How to foster quality staff and good substitute teachers
- How to juggle it all - marketing, customer service, web presence, social media, keeping up with running the business
- Dancers need business training to complement their dance training. Schools should give students the tools they will need to run successful dance businesses

7. Principals' Awareness of dance

For dance to be valued in the public school system Principals need to be committed to its merits and set priorities

8. Pre-Service Education

- Teachers have little to no training in creative dance education in the Faculties of Education; how can they teach it if they don't know what it is?
- Professional Development (PD) is desperately needed at all levels

9. Public Awareness of dance education

- Making sure parents and public are educated about these issues and also become advocates
- There are the same needs for French schools
- We need to educate the other art teachers that dance is equally important as their disciplines

REGIONS FOR THE NEXT TWO YEARS

These sessions and priorities helped us achieve a better understanding of the needs of dance sector across the province and across sub-sectors.

By analyzing the information gleaned from the breakout sessions and throughout the symposium, Dance Ontario's Board and staff identified the following communities for future Connecting the Dots activities:

1. Hamilton/Burlington/Oakville /Milton (Halton Region)
2. London/Dufferin/Barrie/Orillia
3. North Bay/Sudbury/Elliott Lake

The chosen regions were announced on the last day of the event. To date, there have been many partnerships created from Connecting the Dots and we hope that more will continue to evolve. All delegates have been sent a contact list with all the attendees' information to facilitate ongoing discussions.

Moving forward for the next two years, we will be making application forms available for proposing projects that fit the criteria of Connecting the Dots, as we want to create the next incarnations with feedback and input from those working in these regions. The initial gathering sparked a sense of community as all the different sectors were able to find common ground and get behind some issues as a whole community.

ACHIEVEMENTS & SUMMARY YEAR 1

Consultations took place across a broad range of dance and community-based networks including the national and provincial dance service organizations with regional sessions taking place as part of Dance Ontario's Ontario Outtakes in London, Sudbury and North Bay. Research led to the creation of a list of targeted invitees from across sectors. As Dance Ontario is currently located in the Historic Distillery District, we worked with other organizations in the District, The Young Centre for the Performing Arts and Dancemakers Centre for Creation as venues for the events.

Sponsorship for the event was successfully secured through Knights Classic Bodywear. We achieved partnerships with seven arts sector organizations, four educational organizations and five business sector organizations. Additional funding was not sought or secured for Year 1 although the OAC participated in the gathering by screening their dance film Why I dance/Pourquoi je danse and Myles Warren, Dance Officer, was in attendance. The OAC will be approached for a project grant in year 2.

Dee Adrian from North Bay's Capitol Centre was the Keynote speaker and 20 Panellists from different sectors and communities made up the programming. 10 of Dance Ontario's Board members served as facilitators throughout the gathering. 80 delegates registered, 100 artists participated, 55 additional audience members attended performances for a total of 225 attendees.

Final evaluations were collected from delegates on day three of the gathering, contact lists shared with all participants through email, Facebook page created for delegates to interact pre- and post-gathering, regions for next two years finalized: London/Orangeville & Barrie/Orillia with the possible inclusion of an exchange project; Sudbury/North Bay; and Halton, Milton, Burlington, Hamilton. Proposals are currently being accepted for upcoming activities from these regions. These communities will develop partnerships across the sub-sectors and bring enhanced or new activities to broader markets within their regions.

For dance education in the school system, we will work with CODE advocating to Principals, Faculties of Education and the Ministry of Education to support dance educators' needs throughout the school systems with the support of all service organizations and the dance sector as a whole.

Advocacy at the grass roots level will be undertaken with the CDA under their I Love Dance initiative.

Other long-term projects might include a touring circuit for regional artists and a teachers touring group to service northern studios.

The conference was shaped by staff and board over a period of 18 months and funded by the Ontario Trillium Foundation. Our sincere thanks go to all who attended for their honesty and passion, as well as those who performed from young dancers to professional companies who thrilled us with their artistry. We learned that there is a distinct need for gatherings of this sort, as the dance community has the desire to work together but has limited opportunities to do so. Dance Ontario is in a unique position to help facilitate partnerships and collaborations and we heard from our members and the community at large that they want us to take a more prominent role in doing this. There are numerous ideas currently on the table for the upcoming Connecting the Dots and we are excited that we will be able to both participate in and generate more regional events over the next two years.

Feedback collected from attendees and a post-mortem meeting with staff emphasized that, although each regional Connecting the Dots will be uniquely targeted to a community's needs, there is some learning that we will be common to all that we can take into the planning phase.

WHAT ATTENDEES HAD TO SAY:

"I felt the one on one conversations were the most effective in finding tangible ideas."

"I think the snapshots of areas were informative especially I was interested in the point of view of School Board Dance Educators as their experience is different and often take place behind closed doors."

"I loved seeing dancers I am not familiar with."

"I was able to connect with artists on the same path but in different regions"

"the conference gave me opportunities to make meaningful connections with colleagues in different regions and sub-sectors"

"very invigorating to hear from so many different perspectives"

"My brain is spinning with new ideas and new people to connect to!"
